

Disputes having frequently arisen between the Rector of Ash & the Churchwardens of Bocking in Essex relative to Mr. Nutbrown's Charity - the latter insisting that the whole sum of £ 13 4 should be paid by the Rector of Ash without any deduction whatever - the others alleging that the Land Tax ought to be allowed for, & that it had invariably been deducted ~~from the sum~~ It was finally agreed in the year 1783 between the then Rector of Ash & Mr. Nutbrown the Secretary of Bocking in behalf of that Parish (Counsel's opinion having been first had) that the said Charity shall contribute to the Land Tax but in proportion to the Land Tax of the whole Rectory & that in future the sum of 16 shillings shall be deducted from the Charity money & no more.
